Subject: POSITION OPENING: Transportation Planning Director, Central Virginia Planning District Commission

As most of you may know, I'm moving to Missouri in a few months as my wife³ has been accepted into a doctoral program at Mizzou.

While we at CVPDC/CVTPO don't want to brazenly snipe employees from our fellow regional organizations, I wanted to share this position listing with you in case you know of someone who is looking to transition to a new role.

Also, if you have any planning or government contacts in Central Missouri, I'd love to chat with you.

TRANSPORTATION PLANNING DIRECTOR

Now Hiring: The Central Virginia Planning District Commission is looking for an experienced, creative, and forward-thinking individual to provide innovative leadership for the Commission's transportation division. The successful candidate will be an organized self-starter who enjoys being part of a regional team environment. The candidate will have a balanced working knowledge of transportation planning, community planning and development and intergovernmental relations. Excellent coordination and customer skills required. Minimum qualifications include bachelor's degree in Planning, with a focus on Transportation planning, Community Planning and Development, or engineering related field. AICP preferred. Additional education/experience substituted where applicable. Apply at: cvpdc.org/about/careers.
